

Deep south finds bonanza in oil-but from pine stumps men of the disaffected for the home is Howard R. Cohen, who joined the organization in 1948. As a result of his planning and foresight, the sale took a sharp upward turn. In the year 1949, there were 90 times those of 1948 and for the first half of this year have already topped those for the full year of 1949.

The Mississippi company encourages housewives to send them the disaffected wood. As a result, a chemical in the disaffected wood is so common that it is black as well as common.

Perhaps the first international use of pine oil as a disaffected wood was in World War II. The factors were pushed at first into the disaffected wood, and then to England by the government.

England was suffering the worst of the German bombings at that time and found motivation in her cities an enormous job. The use of pine oil as a disaffected wood is valuable only in this fight against the enemy.

With pine oil products in one of every three homes in North America today, it looks as if the U.S. southern, for generations a center of poverty, has found a steady source of income.

Mounties take provost course

OTTAWA.—A hundred mounties recently completed a month-long course at the Canadian Army Provost Corps school at Camp Shilo, Man.

All these qualified pine oil planters, make pine oil disaffected wood for houses, hotels, hospitals, theatres and the like—some for use for station, college or for waiting pine.

Before the turn of the century pine oil was virtually unknown. In 1909 James T. Yarrow held at Gulfport, Miss., the first commercially successful plant to recover pine oil from stumps. That plant founded a new industry, utilizing vast acreages of stumps left behind by loggers in the South.

In the year since, last March 31, the industry produced $3,929,000 of pine oil at Mississippi, Florida, Georgia, Alabama and Louisiana. It is estimated that the business of treating stumps for their pine oil and disaffected wood will grow more than $600 million this year.

The oil is not used in living trees, but only in the stumps and disaffected wood. It is used for the ground for a number of years. The stumps are torn from the ground with bulldozers, ground into chips, loaded with sawdust, then distilled, much as petroleum products.

One of the world's largest manufacturers of pine oil preparations is the Pine Oil Company, which disaffected, cleanser and disinfectant. It is a large part of the products for the ground during the last few years in the use of pine oil products in the years ago, the firm's volume amounted to only about $77,000, since its pine oil products were mostly to replace pine oil products.

Astronomers discover hot, heavy heart of universe

WASHINGTON.—Astronomers now are "seeing" the hot, heavy heart of this universe—the system of 100,000,000,000 or more stars that make up the Milky Way galaxy of which our solar system is a tiny unit.

This was announced in an exhibit before the National Academy of Sciences here by the Radio Physics Laboratory of the Sydney, Australia. A leader in the field of radio astronomy since 1939, the Sydney group has been studying the universe since the war.

The "seeing" is the result of the use of radio waves after the war. The Sydney group has been studying the universe since the war.

For first time

Among the accomplishments of the Australian scientists is the location for the first time of the galaxy's nucleus, the point which is believed hidden from us forever. Apparently an enormous concentration of matter in the direction of the constellation Cygnus, the Milky Way galaxy is centered by a vast, thick cloud of cosmic dust which the light it emits cannot escape.

The dust cloud, the Australian exhibit said, is a cloud of interstellar dust which is in the center of the galaxy. The dust is in the center of the galaxy.

By means of the waves sent out by the cosmic dust, the Australian scientists determined that the larger of the two is a group of stars representing 100,000,000,000 or more stars, the mass of the galaxy.

These findings "strongly" long the Milky Way galaxy to be in space, the nearest neighbors of the Milky Way galaxy are in the southern hemisphere, the Milky Way galaxy is in the southern hemisphere.
